

Dear Sirs,

I am shocked hearing that soon everyone can use their cell-phones aboard. Please do not allow this to happen. Imagine you are on a fully booked flight, maybe even a red-eye and need so sleep as you have to go to work upon arrival and someone else is sitting next to you and chatting and chatting and chatting...

In the interest of all travellers who appreciate once in a while some peace in their hectic life please do not allow the use!

Thanks a lot
